ARCHANGEL™

REAL NAME: Warren Worthington III HGT: 6'
WGT: 150 lbs. PLACE OF BIRTH:
Centerport, New York

DNA Analysis

Possesses the mutant abilities to fly and fire poison-tipped, featherlike projectiles from his mechanical wings.

PROFILE: As the Angel, young Warren was one of my original X-Men. His whole life changed, though, when the villainous Apocalypse captured and transformed him into his present incarnation, Archangel. Now, as a member of the X-Men's Gold Team, a once happy-go-lucky playboy has become a brooding, terrifying instrument of destruction. I pray he can find the will to control his darker urges.

REAL NAME: Henry McCoy HGT: 5'11" WGT: 350 lbs.
PLACE OF BIRTH: Dunfee, Illinois

DNA Analysis

Possesses the mutant powers of enhanced strength, speed, agility, dexterity and acrobatic prowess.

PROFILE: A brilliant biochemist with a cheerful, fun-loving nature, the Beast has always been one of my favorite students. I am gratified that he has become an extremely admired and well-liked individual among his fellow mutants and humans alike, despite his furry, brutish appearance. He was a tremendous asset when I first founded the X-Men, and I am very pleased that he continues to use his abilities to fight against evil to this day as a member of the X-Men Blue Team.

PROFILE: A man displaced in time, the mysterious Bishop is a living testament to what my dream has become in one of this planet's many possible futures. I have welcomed Bishop's membership on the X-Men Gold Team because he is a dedicated and skilled fighter, despite his extremely volatile personality. The latter quality I attribute to the harsh conditions of his future era. Without the proper guidance in the present, Bishop could prove to be more of a loose cannon than Cable himself!

PLACE OF BIRTH: Roanoke, Virginia

DNA Analysis

Possesses the mutant power to create explosive energy "time bombs."

PROFILE: Though Tabitha can be immature and has a reputation for blowing up at her teammates, I find she is also vivacious and energetic. I am confident that she will hone her mutant "time bomb" power to its utmost; it is the lessons in life that she's learning as a member of the renegade X-Force that worry me.

PROFILE: Cable is the embodiment of all I stand against. He takes my dream and twists it, ever so slightly, so that those who fight with him become the very thing they fight against—mutant terrorists, above human law, using sheer brute force to impose their views on those weaker than themselves. While he has stood side by side with the X-Men in a number of campaigns, a day of reckoning between him and myself fast approaches—and, for the world's sake, I pray that I prevail!

DNA Analysis

Possesses the mutant power to create a blast field that enables him to fly.

PROFILE: Sam Guthrie has matured quite a lot since his youthful days in Kentucky. When a coal-mining accident triggered his then-uncontrollable powers, a confused boy enrolled in my school and became a founding member of the New Mutants. Since then, through years of training, Cannonball has mastered his propulsion powers and has become quite a knowledgeable young man as well, fighting alongside his teammates in X-Force.

DNA Analysis

Possesses the mutant ability to transform himself into super-strong organic steel.

PROFILE: One of the most reliable X-Men, Colossus is a tremendous combatant with the heart of an artist. Since the day I took him from a Soviet farm and brought him to my school, he has ceaselessly fought to uphold the X-Men's ideals. Although he constantly claims that he will soon retire from the X-Men Gold Team and resume farming and painting, Colossus has never failed to stand against human intolerance and super-villains alike.

PROFILE: I have watched my protegee Jean Grey develop her mental powers of telepathy and telekinesis to astounding levels. A founding member of my X-Men, Jean has endured numerous tragedies and mind-boggling adventures over the years, but she has emerged from them as one of the X-Men Gold Team's strongest and most valued members. PROFILE: Havok is the brother of one of my first students, Cyclops, and an incredibly powerful mutant in his own right. So great is his power, in fact, that when he first began using it, he had to wear a protective suit to contain the vast cosmic energy that his body constantly absorbed. Havok took himself out of the super hero game for a while, but I'm happy to see he now has full control of his powers without the suit and has returned to the fold to successfully lead X-Factor.

PROFILE: The youngest and least serious-minded of my original X-Men, Iceman has not yet been able to give up the role of hero for the normal life he has always longed for. This is fortunate for mankind, as his mutant power to manipulate cold, now honed through years of practice and experience to razor keenness, is an invaluable weapon in the fight against evil. PROFILE: A more fiery teenager I could not imagine. Jubilee's mutant talent seems a natural offshoot of her explosive personality. She sought out the X-Men herself, latching onto Wolverine, who took her under his wing (or should I say claw?). Perhaps I should have called him "Sunflare." for not only is he capable of incredible feats of strength, but his explosive, passionate outbursts can singe even the most callous heart. Some have mistakenly called him sullen, but I have always seen the caring, sensitive young man within the shouting, petulant teenager. I expect that his association with X-Force will at the very least have a maturing effect on him.

WARPATH™

REAL NAME: James Proudstar HGT: 6'1" WGT: 214 lbs.
PLACE OF BIRTH: Unrevealed

DNA Analysis

Possesses the mutant powers of superhuman strength and speed.

PROFILE: When I look on Warpath, I sometimes feel a sense of déjà vu: his elder brother was the X-Man Thunderbird, and in fact Warpath once held the X-Men responsible for his brother's death. Now realizing they were not to blame, Warpath fights as a member of X-Force—though his haughty air sometimes provokes skirmishes with his teammates. Nevertheless, Warpath's bravery and loyalty make him a warrior of the highest order.

PLACE OF BIRTH: Scotland

DNAlysis

Possesses the mutant power to transform into a wolf, or wolf/human hybrid.

PROFILE: Naive, frightened, awash with guilt and self-pity—that was Rahne when she was brought to my school by my associate Moira MacTaggart. Happily, I've watched her blossom into a confident and capable young woman. Now, though she's forced to maintain her transitional wolf/human form, she radiates justifiable pride in her own self-worth, and, as a member of X-Factor, she fights so that others may do the same!

PROFILE: Logan is easily one of the most intriguing men I've ever encountered. His early history is a mystery, but it appears he owes his skeleton to the top-secret Weapon X program. Despite his often disagreeable nature and his tendency to go into completely unpredictable, even deadly, berserker rages, Logan has a value to the X-Men Blue Team that is beyond measure. PROFILE: In my lifetime I've seen obsession in many forms, but none of them as gruesome as the tragic case of Lady Deathstrike. Believing the X-Man Wolverine somehow responsible for her father's death, she submitted to horrific experiments that mangled her flesh and made her a cyborg killing machine—just so she'd have the power to get revenge! I fear that, driven by such a twisted code of honor, she won't stop until she succeeds!

DNA Analysis

Possesses mutant power to create hypnotic illusions.

PROFILE: There are few villains in existence who have caused more emotional damage to the X-Men than Mastermind. Although my own telepathic powers are vastly superior to his, Mastermind's ruthless manipulation of people's psyches combined with his great tenacity make him an extremely dangerous foe. I don't normally stoop to name-calling, but Mastermind is perhaps the most detestable wretch I ever met.
